A UNIFIED FOR GLOBAL FUEL SUPPLY AND DEMAN

ABOUT PETROLODEX

Petrolodex is a Dubai-based principal trading company specializing in the sourcing and direct supply of fuel, petroleum, and chemical products across global markets. We trade directly from established refinery and producer relationships, buying under our own account and selling directly to end-users, distributors, and institutional buyers — with no broker or intermediary layer between our supply and your delivery.

We maintain direct relationships with refineries, national oil companies, and institutional producers across the Middle East, Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas, serving clients across energy, aviation, maritime, industrial manufacturing, agriculture, and government procurement sectors. Our product range includes ULSD, Jet A1, LPG, LNG, crude oil, bitumen, and refined petroleum derivatives, traded under both FOB and CIF terms.

Every transaction is principal-to-principal: binding contracts, transparent pricing, and full cargo accountability from contract execution through final delivery, backed by structured verification, standardized product documentation, and clearly defined trading procedures.

For businesses that value precision, reliability, and long-term partnerships, Petrolodex delivers exactly that.

CEO MESSAGE

The global energy industry is one of the most dynamic and consequential markets in the world. At Petrolodex FZCO, we have built our company around one fundamental belief: that access to reliable, verified, and directly traded petroleum supply should never be a barrier to growth for any business, in any market, anywhere in the world.

From our headquarters in Dubai, one of the most strategically significant energy and trade hubs on the planet, we operate with a global perspective and a deeply local understanding of the markets we serve. Our reach extends across the Middle East, Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Americas, supported by longstanding relationships with refineries, national oil companies, institutional buyers, and producers that represent some of the most respected names in global commodity markets.

Petrolodex serves a diverse range of sectors including energy, aviation, maritime, industrial manufacturing, agriculture, and government procurement. Across all of these industries, our clients come to us for the same reasons. They need verified supply, structured processes, compliant documentation, and a principal trading partner with the experience and discipline to take a transaction all the way through to successful completion. That is precisely what we deliver on every engagement.

We look forward to building on that foundation and continuing to serve the global energy industry with the excellence and dedication that defines everything we do.

Sincerely,

Founder and Chief Executive Officer
